

OCTOBER

Bookbeat

Happy spooky month everyone! Oh, has a lot happened in the short month that I have been here, and I am still brainstorming on new ideas to make this place a fun place to go for everyone! As I posted on the Froid Facebook page that the hours for the library did get approved. From now on the library will be open Tuesday, Wednesday and, Thursday from 12pm till 6 pm.

We still have some books from the Hoppa Mountain books that is free to come grab and add to your kid's collection! I also can help you sign up for Dolly Parton imaginary library. Getting free books for your little one opens so many doors into their little hearts and minds! Stop on by and let me know if I can help you with registering. This is good until their 5th birthday.

What have I been reading? I am prepared for this one this time! I started following a lot of our patron's taste and picked up a murder mystery! The book I picked up is called "Two Parts Sugar, One part Murder" by Valerie Burns, in this book we follow Mady Montgomery to the middle of New Bison, Michigan where her great aunt willed her, her house, bakery and Baby a big English mastiff that was Mady's great aunts' child. However, there is a catch. Mady doesn't know how to cook let alone bake! Thank goodness her aunt had some amazing people that worked at the bakery to help teach her how to do all that. On just Mady's second day they mayor was murdered in her bakery and her fingerprints are on the murder weapon. You'll have to pick up the book to find out how it all unravels. I am on the second book because there was ANOTHER murder! This book kept me on the edge of my chair, and I could not put it down, let me tell you it is a great read. Come on down and pick it up.

The Pie Social has happened, and it was honestly amazing, we had lots of people and lots of amazing, delicious pies. It is so wonderful that we have an amazing community to help us out. It also doesn't hurt that some memebbers are GREAT bakers. and just think this is just the beginning of the holidays! Puts a whole new meaning to winter weight now, doesn't it?

I will keep updating everyone on the library news. Don't forget to come check out the library! Thanks for all your support already!
